二、报告目录及图表目录

摘要The report has gathered together a selection of information about each of these many operators. The range of information presented in the text, and where appropriate in tables, includes: · brief history of the company; · corporate and business structure; · subscriber growth; · financial performance; · market position.It is noted that the information provided varies from market to market and operator to operator, depending very much on the availability of statistics and corporate reports.

In some markets we also provide an overall review of the market in which we find these operators; this overview includes such statistical information as market share and APRU if available. Within the background information we have also reported on the mergers and acquisition that have been part of a transformational market. 目录及图表1. Afghanistan
